Important

Save animal

We must help animals.

If we want to help them,
we must stop polluting.

We should help organizations that save animals. Also, we have to build reservations and, of course, we must go on demonstrations to tell the government that we can change the situation.

They are in danger

The Florida puma

The Florida puma is in the Red Book as “critically endangered”. In the 1970s there were about 20 Florida pumas in the wild nature. Now their number is about 100-160 animals.

The Florida pumas live in the forests and swamps of southern Florida in the United States.

The Florida pumas are not very big – they weigh 30 kilos (females), 50-70 kilos (males). Their total length is about 2 meters, shoulder height is 60 cm. The coat color is reddish.

The Florida pumas eat small animals like hares, mice, deer, some birds and birds’ eggs. In the wild nature pumas live about 20 years.

The reasons they are dying are: drying, swamps, sport hunting, alligators, car accident.

PEOPLE MUST HELP FLORIDA PUMAS TO SURVIVE!

They are in danger

Tigers

Many people kill tigers and tigers will not survive! Why do people kill tigers? People often kill tigers because they are frightened of them. Tigers are not natural predators of man. In fact, only a very few tigers ever kill a human, and even fewer go on to become regular man-eaters.

There are a great number of organizations in the worlds whose aim is to prevent the extinction of tigers: "Save the Tiger", "the WWF1" and "TRAFFIC". All tigers are on the endangered species list, and yet they are still being slaughtered.

Save tiger! You must not kill them!

Rabbit saves the owner

Simon Stegall fell into a diabetic coma which could end very sadly. It happened when Simon was resting on the sofa at home. His wife Victoria was nearby, but she was sure that her husband just went to sleep after a hard day's work. Luckily, their rabbit Dori sensed that something wrong had happened with the owner. She jumped on Simon and started to jump and lick his lips trying to return her master's life. Soon Victoria looked at her husband and the pet. Finally, she called an ambulance. ¹

Pussy

I have a cat, its name is Pussy. It has smooth grey-white fur, bright blue eyes and striped tail like raccoon's.

Pussy's favourite activities are to roll candies, to sleep inside the sofa, in boxes or on the bookshelf and to catch birds when I walk with it. It likes to be photographed and even poses and freezes for a few seconds.

This kitten understands the human's mood! If someone is sad, Pussy lies down on his knees. When someone is happy, pussy begins to bite him.

There is another funny moment. If Pussy hears something loud, it runs and meows twice louder. Here is my Pussy.

Some facts about dogs

It is interesting, that about half of people over the world have pets. The most people prefer cats. The others have different races of dogs. According the dog's rating the most intelligent dogs are:

1. Border collie
2. Poodle
3. German shepherd

The nicest dogs are:

1. Scottish terrier
2. Siberian husky
3. Golden retriever ⁷

As for me, I have a dog too. His breed is dachshund. It is a very clever and funny dog with a long body and short legs. You can hunt small animals living in holes with dachshund. That's why these dogs have very long bodies. I don't hunt with my dog. Best of all Team (it's the name of my dog) likes walking in the park and playing with a ball. Team is always funny and happy! Certainly we all love Team very much. And I think people having dogs are more happier than others.

Degu. A wonderful pet!

Not all animal lovers know such attractive little animal as a degu. These animals live in South America, in Chile. The animal looks like a squirrel, a chinchilla, a rat, a guinea pig, and even ... a lizard at the same time. In case of danger it throws its tail like a lizard. But the tail doesn't grow back. This sweet little animal gets used to people easily and it becomes quite tame. These animals don't like water, so they wash in the sand. They are prone to diabetes, so they can't eat sweets. The degus help people in studying such serious disease as diabetes. It is a very moving, funny and interesting animal and a wonderful pet!
